17. During the 2014/15 period, the Operation pursued the gradual drawdown and reconfiguration of the Force in line with Security Council resolution 2162 (2014) to consolidate its military presence in the west and other high-risk areas of the country while shifting to a mobile and robust posture. A central element is the deployment of a Quick Reaction Force of one battalion, with vocation to intervene in Liberia as necessary. The Quick Reaction Force is expected to be fully operational before the end of the 2014/15 period. By 30 June 2015, the uniformed personnel strength of UNOCI will consist of up to 5,437 military personnel, comprising 5,245 troops and staff officers and 192 military observers. Budgetary provisions for the 2015/16 period are made for the planned number of 5,126 contingent personnel and 192 military observers. UNOCI will continue to provide support to the national authorities in addressing remaining security threats and protecting civilians, within its existing capabilities and areas of deployment, and in accordance with the human rights due diligence policy. The UNOCI force will also maintain a robust posture and operational readiness to address and deter threats of physical violence, as required.
